

The noble lord

Song of Sussex

Arr. Fernando Reyes

Vox principalis

1.'Tis of a no - ble Lord, my boys, as 2.The Lord he kill'd the squire a 3.'Tis of as poor a ser - ving girl as 4.And when she came be - fore the judge, dow

1.'Tis of a no - ble Lord, my boys, as
2.The Lord he kill'd the squire a
3.'Tis of as poor a ser - ving girl as
4.And when she came be - fore the judge, dow

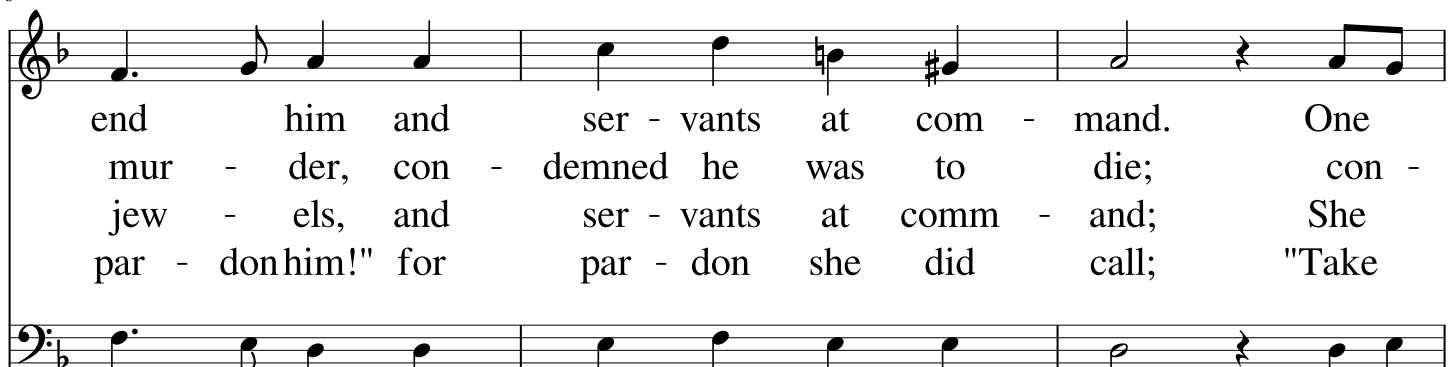

3

a - ny in the land; He'd squi - res to att - wit - ness stand - ing by, 'Twas brought in wil - ful an - y in the land, She borr - owed rings and on her knees did fall, "O! par - don him! O!

a - ny in the land; He'd squi - res to att -
wit - ness stand - ing by, 'Twas brought in wil - ful
an - y in the land, She borr - owed rings and on her knees did fall, "O! par - don him! O!

6

end him and ser - vants at com - mand. One mur - der, con - demned he was to die; con - jew - els, and ser - vants at comm - and; She par - don him!" for par - don she did call; "Take

end him and ser - vants at com - mand. One
mur - der, con - demned he was to die; con -
jew - els, and ser - vants at comm - and; She
par - don him!" for par - don she did call; "Take day as they were walk - ing to take the plea - sant demned he was to die, sen - tence up - on him borr - owed rings and jew - els, a foot - man with her pi - ty on a vir - gin, and grant to me my air,... When the Lord he kill'd the squire, as passed, But be - yond all ex - pec - ta - tion, a came Just like an - y no - ble La - dy in love, And the heav - ens shall re - ward you great quik - ly you shall hear. friend there came at last.

all her birth and fame. bless - ings from a - bove!"