

Love my earth and love my ocean
Give your care and your devotion
To everyone – the whole creation
As the wheel spins round again.

Green the garden where you may live
Dark the earth in which you will lie
Clear the air that you will breathe
From the day you're born until you die.

When we die we are reborn
As the night is followed by morn
All my children are one nation
As the wheel spins round again
